Pursuing work

Walk in Progress with Oliver Schürer, Rhona Byrne u.a.
Concept: Markus Bogensberger and Gabu Heindl

Factory, depot, working-class estate: powerful images of work from days of yore. But what are the architectures for networked, immaterial or affective labor like? 'Atypical employment', 'outsourcing' and 'franchising', teleworking, labour migration - these are the buzzwords for a changed world of work, directly impacting life concepts, daily routines and urban modes of use. At the same time, the city itself is changing, too, with inner cities, for example, becoming tourist service zones and industrial regions becoming Creative Cities. Urban
