the public' by alsop architects

'the public' is an art gallery located in west bromich, england by alsop architects. the new building was designed around the concept of a 'box of delights'. within its simple rectangular shell, the building is filled with a wide variety of different spaces, forms, curves and textures to delight the senses. form the outside the façade is all black aluminium cladding, which is done by blob-like windows trimmed in magenta. there is also a series of metal protrusions on the back wall. the interior is designed for a variety of programming, which is linked together with a long and winding ramp.

foster + partners to masterplan sustainable state capital in india foster and partners has been hired to masterplan the capital of a new state of india. located on the sunny tropical island of andaman and nicobar, the project comprises a series of ecologically sensitive buildings. the complex will provide public buildings, residential spaces, hospitality facilities and sports venues, and will be a hub for archaeological and cultural tourism.

stream live a lecture with david chipperfield at designboom designboom is excited to announce it will display the working processes of david chipperfield architects. the video will be streamed live at designboom. with a mix of interviews, field trips and workshops, we will offer a rare behind-the-scenes look at the design and working processes of the world's leading architects. you can find out more and register here.

watch now! vicenza exhibition to celebrate david chipperfield architects designboom © 2018